My Dear Pat;

We arrived here safely after a very eventful trip. We got at one o'clock eastern standard time.

We boarded our plane at nine thirty and started for eight hours of straight flying until we would reach Chicago for a short stop. On board was Douglas Fairbanks Jr. and Guy Mitchell. Most of the way we played Canasta with Guy Mitchell and another gentleman at Chicago we four got off for a cup of coffee. We waited for one hour then decided we had better check about our plane because <sup>they</sup> told us it would only be twenty minutes when looked we found our flight had left. We then had dinner and caught a later flight. When we got on board we went to the lounge and took the arms off the couch's and Guy Mitchell and I went to sleep. Everyone thought we were crazy.

Today we rehearsed all day and tomorrow will put some stuff on film although the show is live.

Well honey I sure wish you were here not only so I could see you but maybe you could keep me warm. Last night it <sup>was</sup> twenty degrees. Oh! there's something I forgot to tell you. Today the way to work they had an Paid. It lasted five minutes and that time not a soul was on the They took everyone into the sub-getting late and I have to tomorrow so until you here I can think of me and save

With Love
